Calaveras County has received $150,000 to provide temporary housing to individuals displaced from their primary residences by the Butte Fire.

The funds came from home finance company Golden State Finance Authority, established in 1993 by advocacy organization Rural County Representatives of California.

County Administrative Officer Shirley Ryan said the funds will likely be channeled through one of the local groups already working on Butte Fire recovery efforts, such as Calaveras Recovers, which is focused on long-term recovery for people who have been displaced.

She said it is too soon to determine how the money will be distributed among survivors, but all of the money must be spent within the coming year or be returned to the Golden State Finance Authority.
