The Rural County Representatives of California has launched its Rural County Photo Contest for 2018. The second annual contest invites amateur photographers to capture life in rural California by showcasing the beautiful, vibrant imagery found in the organization's 35 member counties, including Tehama County.

The Rural County Photo contest runs July 1 through Aug. 31. The contest winner will have their image displayed during RCRC's Annual Meeting, taking place Sept. 19-21 in Napa County.

The RCRC Rural County Photo Contest was created to promote tourism and local economic development through showcasing the beautiful landscape, scenery, activities, history, and charm of RCRC's member counties.

Full contest details, including instructions for submission, can be accessed by going to RCRC's online website rcrcnet.org.

The Rural County Representatives of California champions policies on behalf of California's rural counties, and provides legislative and regulatory representation at the state and federal levels.
